The Youth Future Project...

...is a non-profit association which brings together youth and laureates of the Right Livelihood Award ("Alternative Nobel Prize"), in order to facilitate an exchange between the generations and to foster the societal change to more peace, justice, environmental protection and sustainable development of economy, politics and civil society.

- With the support of the Youth Future Project association different youth initiatives work together since the 2009.
- We organize large youth conferences, support the initiation and development of youth projects and give workshops on related topics.
- Currently, the association has around 30 members whose work is enabled by many active supporters, organizers and patrons.

All people involved in the Youth Future Project see themselves as ambassadors of a "right livelihood" – living and acting in tune with human beings and nature and to sustain a liveable future for our children and our childrens' children.

...Youth Network of the Right Livelihood Award

The Right Livelihood Award Foundation honors those who find new solutions to the most urgent problems of our time with the Alternative Nobel Prize.

This prize directly supports its laureates and provides international recognition for individuals and initiatives. Officially called the Right Livelihood Award, the prize is annually awarded to up to four laureates in December in the Swedish Parliament in Stockholm.

The laureates of the Alternative Nobel Prize are as diverse as the global issues we face today: environmentalists, human rights advocates, artists and cultural advocates, activists for children and development.

The Youth Future Project has been the official youth outreach network of the Right Livelihood Award Foundation since 2009.

„The YFP has created and moved a lot - also within me! The conference was highly encouraging for me. Most people don't understand how I can be so optimistic and target things by saying: Hey, a change is possible! But after this week with fantastic people I really believe that everything is possible.“

Participate...

„The YFP has not only made possible the initiation of our project, but has also assisted us financially and by a coaching. Thank you for supporting us!“

Valentin Niebler, part of the „Lebenswege“ project team

„The Conference was unique in all senses. I think it was the most unique when students were able to interact with laureates on an equal level.“

Prof. David Ives, Director of the Albert Schweitzer Foundation

„I travelled to a YFP team meeting and was welcomed very warmly. The openness and heartiness was very important for my motivation and my confidence in myself. I could experience that I'm not alone. I stayed with the YFP as it is a place where everyone can do the things for which he/she is into.“
